1. Product Description

An Open End Turbo Put enables investors to participate more than proportionately (with leverage) in the negative development of the Underlying. Conversely, investors also participate more than proportionately in the positive development of the Underlying and additionally bear the risk of losing their entire investment. If the Underlying reaches or goes above the Knock-Out Barrier at any time during the life of an Open End Turbo Put, it expires worthless immediately. Because an Open End Turbo Put does not have a fixed term, the Knock-Out Barrier does not remain constant during the life of the Open End Turbo Put but is adjusted regularly. In contrast to plain vanilla warrants, volatility only has a marginal effect on the price of the Open End Turbo Put.

(Knock-Out Barrier – Final Reference Level) x Multiplier

2. Prospects of Profits and Loss

Market expectation

Investors in an Open End Turbo Put expect that the level of the Underlying will fall and do not expect the Reference Currency to depreciate against the Settlement Currency.

Profit Potential

An Open End Turbo Put benefits more than proportionately from a negative performance of the Underlying. The profit potential for an Open End Turbo Put is limited given the Underlying cannot go below zero. The value of an Open End Turbo Put will be affected both by the performance of the Underlying, and by the performance of the exchange rate between the Reference Currency and the Settlement Currency. An appreciation of the Reference Currency against the Settlement Currency has a positive effect on the value of the Open End Turbo Put.

Loss potential

An Open End Turbo Put loses value if the Underlying shows a positive performance or if the Reference Currency depreciates against the Settlement Currency. Investors may lose some of their invested capital if the Cash Amount is less than the purchase price of the Open End Turbo Put paid by the investor. If the Underlying and the exchange rate do not move, an Open End Turbo Put loses value over time if the interest margin set by the Calculation Agent is greater than the interest rate for deposits. An Open End Turbo Put has no fixed maturity, but it expires worthless immediately if the level of the Underlying reaches or goes above the Knock-Out Barrier.

Market price determining factors during the term

In particular, the following factor has a negative effect on the price of the Open End Turbo Put: a rising Underlying level. Conversely, this factor has a positive impact on the price of the Open End Turbo Put. Unlike with plain vanilla warrants, volatility only has a marginal effect on the price of the Open End Turbo.

3. Significant Risks for the Investors

Product specific risks

Due to the leverage effect, the value of the Warrant will fluctuate more than the value of the Underlying. An investment in a Warrant therefore bears a higher risk than a direct investment in the Underlying, not only because of the leverage effect but also because of the possibility of the occurrence of a Knock-Out Event. The closer the Underlying quotes to the Knock-Out Barrier, the higher the leverage effect is, but also the risk of a Knock-Out Event occurring. Investors in this Warrant should be experienced investors being familiar with derivative products, leverage, the exchange rate and the Underlying.

Investors may lose their capital partially or in full, if the Warrant has to be redeemed early due to reasons beyond the control of the Issuer.

Market risks

An investment in the Warrant involves risks. These risks may include, among others, equity market, bond market, foreign exchange, interest rate, market volatility and economic, political and regulatory risks and any combination of these and other risks.

An investment in the Warrant should only be made after assessing the direction, timing and magnitude of potential future changes in the value of the Underlying, and/or in the composition or method of calculation of the Underlying, as the return of any such investment will be dependent, inter alia, upon such changes. More than one risk factor may have simultaneous effect with regard to the Warrant such that the effect of a particular risk factor may not be predictable. In addition, more than one risk factor may have a compounding effect which may not be predictable. No assurance can be given as to the effect that any combination of risk factors may have on the value of the Warrant.

Secondary market risks

Under normal market conditions, Deutsche Bank AG intends but is not obliged to maintain a secondary market on a regular basis throughout the life of the Warrant. There is no obligation to provide bid and/or ask prices for a specific order or volume and there is no guarantee of a specific liquidity or of a specific market making spread. In extraordinary market situations or in the case of technical disruptions, it may be temporarily difficult or impossible to buy or sell the Warrant. Hence investors cannot rely on being able to purchase or sell the Warrant on a specific date or at a specific price.

Deutsche Bank AG may provide a secondary market and bid and ask prices for the Warrant taking into account prevailing market conditions. There will be a price difference between bid and ask prices (i.e. the spread). The bid and ask prices quoted by the Issuer during its term are based on the Issuer's internal pricing models. Accordingly, unlike in an on exchange trading, for example for shares, the prices quoted during the term are not based on supply and demand. The prices in particular contain a margin which the Issuer determines at its free discretion and which may cover, in addition to the Issuer's proceeds, the structuring costs of the Warrant, any applicable sales costs and other costs. It is not possible to predict the price at which the Warrant will trade in the market.

Issuer risk

The value of the Warrant may depend not only on the performance of the Underlying, but also on the creditworthiness of the Issuer, which may change during the lifetime of the Warrant. The investor is exposed to the risk that the Issuer is unable to meet its obligations under the Warrant, for instance in the event of bankruptcy (inability to pay / over-indebtedness) or an official directive for resolution action. Such a directive may be issued if, for example, the Issuer's assets fall below the amount of its liabilities, the Issuer cannot, at present or in the near future, pay off its liabilities at maturity or requires extraordinary financial support, and may, among other things, result in a write-down or write-off of the claims arising from the Warrant or in conversion of the Warrant into shares of the Issuer. A total loss of the invested amount is possible. The Warrant is a debt security and as such not subject to any deposit protection.

Risk of termination and cancellation / Reinvestment risk

The Issuer may terminate the Warrant with immediate effect in the event of obvious written or mathematical errors in the Terms of the Warrant or if certain extraordinary events provided in the Terms of the Warrant occur. Extraordinary events are:

- changes, particularly in connection with the Underlying, which have a material effect on the objective ability or method of determination of the price or level of the Underlying or its theoretical economic value; these include in particular ceasing to calculate the Underlying and
- events, in particular due to changes in actual, economic, legal and tax conditions, which:
 - affect the Issuer's Hedging Arrangements and hinder it in meeting its obligations in connection with the Warrant;
 - cause a substantial adverse change for the Issuer in the basis of the calculation of the issue price of the Warrant.

Instead of immediate termination, the Issuer may also amend the terms and conditions. In case of immediate termination, investors receive payment of an amount equivalent to the market price to be determined by the Issuer at this time. This may also be significantly lower than the purchase price paid by the investor. The investor is exposed to the risk that the Warrant may be terminated at a time that is unfavorable for him and that he will be able to reinvest the amount received only on less favorable terms.

Ranking

Pursuant to Sec 46f (5) - (7) of the German Banking Act (Kreditwesengesetz, "KWG") certain unsecured and unsubordinated debt instruments of the Issuer (hereinafter referred to as "Non-Preferred Senior Obligations") rank below the Issuer's other senior liabilities (hereinafter referred to as "Preferred Senior Obligations") in insolvency or in the event of the imposition of resolution measures, such as a bail-in, affecting the Issuer. This order of priority would apply in a German insolvency proceeding or in the event of the imposition of resolution measures with respect to the Issuer commenced on or after 1 January 2017, with effect for any senior unsecured debt instruments outstanding at this time. Among the Preferred Senior Obligations are, as defined in Sec 46f (7) KWG, senior unsecured debt instruments whose terms provide that (i) the amount of the repayment depends on the occurrence or non-occurrence of an event which is uncertain at the point in time when the senior unsecured debt instruments are issued, or settlement is effected in a way other than by monetary payment, or (ii) the amount of the interest payments depends on the occurrence or non-occurrence of an event which is uncertain at the point in time when the senior unsecured debt instruments are issued unless the amount of the interest payments solely depends on a fixed or floating reference interest rate, and settlement is effected by monetary payment. Unsecured and unsubordinated Securities issued under this Programme that do not meet the terms described in (i) or (ii) above, including fixed rate Securities and floating rate Securities linked to LIBOR or EURIBOR, are, therefore, expected to constitute Non-Preferred Senior Obligations that would bear losses in a German insolvency proceeding or in the event of the imposition of resolution measures before Preferred Senior Obligations. In a German insolvency proceeding or in the event of the imposition of resolution measures with respect to the Issuer, the competent resolution authority or court would determine whether unsecured and unsubordinated Securities issued under the Programme qualify as Preferred Senior Obligations or as Non-Preferred Senior Obligations. The German Federal Agency for Financial Market Stabilisation (FMSA), the German Federal Financial Supervisory Authority (BaFin) and the German central bank (Deutsche Bundesbank) published a joint interpretative guide on the classification of certain liabilities under Sec 46f (5)-(7) KWG (the "FMSA Guidance").
